

INTRODUCTION ( Józef M. Fiszer ) .....	23
--	----

PART ONE

The Euro-Atlantic system and international security in a multipolar world

CHAPTER 1. The Euro-Atlantic system and its place and role in a multipolar international order – Józef M. Fiszer
1.1. Introduction .....	29
1.2. The contemporary international system and its premises .....	36
1.2.1. Contemporary world in the light of various research theories and paradigms .....	36
1.2.2. Polarization of the NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation) and the European Union member states .....	41
1.2.3. Russia and the new international order, and its security .....	43
1.2.4. Germany and Poland facing the Euro-Atlantic international security issues .....	49
1.3. The Euro-Atlantic system today and its prospects in a multipolar world ...	54
1.3.1. The place of the United States of America and the European Union in the Euro-Atlantic system – economic and political dimensions .....	54
1.3.2. Cooperation between the European Union and the NATO .....	58
1.3.3. The future of the Euro-Atlantic system: Opportunities and threats .....	65
1.4. Conclusions .....	69
CHAPTER 2. Development prospects for Euro-Atlanticism under the geopolitical paradigm – Franciszek Gotembski
2.1. Introduction .....	71

2.2. The geopolitical premises of Euro-Atlanticism .....	71
2.3. Globalisation and the plane of Euro-Atlanticism .....	73
2.4. Euro-Atlanticism in the civilisational dimension .....	80
2.5. Euro-Atlanticism under the conditions of a global multipolar system ....	85
2.6. Conclusions .....	89
 CHAPTER 3. Balanced socio-economic development and its significance to ensuring order in the local, regional and world space – Bogusław Jagusiak
3.1. Introduction .....	90
3.2. Local space; the state .....	92
3.3. Regional space; the European Union .....	95
3.4. World space; the global world .....	98
3.5. Conclusions .....	105
 CHAPTER 4. The revitalisation of the transatlantic partnership? The prospects of the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership – Jakub Wódka
4.1. Introduction .....	107
4.2. The economic potential of the transatlantic tandem .....	110
4.3. A brief history of the transatlantic free trade talks .....	113
4.4. The Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership .....	115
4.4.1. The modus operandi of the TTIP negotiations .....	115
4.4.2. The scope of the future agreement .....	117
4.4.3. Economic benefits .....	120
4.4.4. Geopolitical implications .....	122
4.5. Conclusions .....	125
 CHAPTER 5. International security and the Euro-Atlantic system in German politics prior to the 2013 Bundestag elections – Krzysztof Garczewski
5.1. Introduction .....	126
5.2. The Christian Democratic Union / Christian Social Union .....	127
5.3. The Free Democratic Party .....	131
5.4. The Social Democratic Party of Germany .....	135
5.5. Alliance '90 / The Greens .....	139
5.6. The Left .....	146
5.7. Other selected German political parties .....	147
5.8. Conclusions .....	149
 CHAPTER 6. From Kosovo to Afghanistan: The Chinese perception of the NATO – Jan Rowiński, Dominik Mierzejewski
6.1. Introduction .....	150
6.2. The attitude of China towards the NATO .....	151
6.3. China's interests in Afghanistan: Investments and the development of the western provinces .....	161

6.4. The international background to the Chinese policy towards the NATO .....	165
6.5. Conclusions .....	170

PART TWO

The position and role of the European Union in the Euro-Atlantic system and the new international order

CHAPTER 7. The European Union as an actor in the new global, multipolar security order? – Krzysztof Mischczak
7.1. Introduction .....	175
7.2. The European Union and the new deal in the globalisation of power ...	177
7.3. The European Union's future role in the international system of global security .....	185
7.4. Conclusions .....	189
CHAPTER 8. The internal determinants of the European Union's external policy in the context of the economic crisis – Agnieszka K. Cianciara
8.1. Introduction .....	191
8.2. The internal transformations in the European Union during the era of the economic crisis .....	192
8.2.1. The eurozone crisis .....	192
8.2.2. The institutional crisis .....	194
8.2.3. The political and legitimacy crisis .....	197
8.2.4. Differentiated integration and changes in the distribution of power on the continent .....	200
8.3. The impact of internal processes on the European Union's external policy .....	202
8.3.1. The impact on enlargement and neighbourhood policies .....	202
8.3.2. The impact on the European Union's international position in a multipolar world .....	204
8.4. Conclusions .....	206
CHAPTER 9. The reform of the European Union's security strategy as a new opening in transatlantic relations. The concept and prospects – Paweł Olszewski
9.1. Introduction .....	208
9.2. The premises of the European Union's security strategy and their appraisal .....	210
9.3. The international situation from 2003 to 2013 and the European Union's security strategy .....	216
9.4. The concepts and prospects for the reform of the European Union's security strategy .....	222
9.5. The impact of the reform on transatlantic relations .....	226
9.6. Conclusions .....	228

13.3. The main differences between the Civic Platform and Law and Justice with regard to the Euro-Atlantic security system .....	293
13.4. Conclusions .....	299
CHAPTER 14. Poland's external security in the political thinking of Law and Justice. An analysis in the context of the 2007 national security strategy – Adrian Chojan
14.1. Introduction .....	301
14.2. The external security of a state. A theoretical approach .....	303
14.3. The 2007 National Security Strategy. The premises and an appraisal ...	307
14.4. Poland's external security .....	313
14.4.1. Military security .....	313
14.4.2. Energy security .....	315
14.4.3. Economic security .....	316
14.5. The role of the Transatlantic Community .....	317
14.6. Conclusions .....	319
CHAPTER 15. Poland's position on the changes in the Euro-Atlantic security system – Tomasz Paszewski
15.1. Introduction .....	321
15.2. The United States and the security of Europe .....	322
15.3. European defence capabilities .....	326
15.4. The planes of military cooperation in Europe .....	329
15.5. Russia and Poland's regional security .....	332
15.6. Poland's defence policy .....	334
15.7. Conclusions .....	338
CONCLUSIONS. The role of the Euro-Atlantic system in the multipolar world, in the light of the emerging new, global order. A report on an empirical study – Józef M. Fiszer .....
	339
Bibliography .....	353
Summary .....	375
Summary in Russian .....	379
Index of surnames .....	383
Authors' profiles .....	387

CHAPTER 10. The opportunities, challenges, risk and threats resulting from the evolution of NATO's identity – Karolina Libront
10.1. Introduction .....	230
10.2. Theoretical and methodological premises .....	231
10.3. Maintaining the significance of NATO in view of the growing scope of the Alliance's tasks .....	232
10.4. Weakened cohesiveness .....	235
10.5. The re-definition of Article 5 of the Washington Treaty .....	237
10.6. The globalisation of the Alliance's tasks .....	240
10.7. Overstretched resources .....	242
10.8. Conclusions .....	245

CHAPTER 11. Islam's strength or the West's weakness? Directions of the social and economic transformations of the European Union Member States – Daria Orzechowska-Słowikowska
11.1. Introduction .....	247
11.2. Migrations in the shadow of the Arab Spring. A challenge not only for Europe .....	249
11.3. Lampedusa. Europe's unwanted child .....	251
11.4. Muslims and Europe's economic development .....	253
11.5. Problems with Muslim integration. An issue for the European Union ...	256
11.6. A good European and a loyal citizen of Europe. Is it possible at all? ...	258
11.7. Conclusions .....	261

PART THREE

Poland's place in the Euro-Atlantic international security system today and within the multipolar order perspective

CHAPTER 12. Poland's place in the world and in Europe – Longin Pastusiak
12.1. Introduction .....	265
12.2. Poland's place in the world .....	266
12.3. Poland's place in Europe .....	276
12.4. Conclusions .....	280
CHAPTER 13. Poland's role in the Euro-Atlantic security system as perceived by her main political forces – Agnieszka Orzelska-Stączek
13.1. Introduction .....	281
13.2. The Euro-Atlantic security system in the light of the programmes of selected parties .....	283
13.2.1. The Civic Platform .....	283
13.2.2. The Polish People's Party .....	286
13.2.3. Law and Justice .....	286
13.2.4. Palikot's movement .....	290
13.2.5. The Democratic Left Alliance .....	291