

Poland, Soviet Union, Russia

From Past through Memory
to Politics

Edited by Przemysław Adamczewski
and Wojciech Łysek

Instytut Studiów Politycznych
Polskiej Akademii Nauk

Warszawa 2020

About the Authors

---

Przemysław Adamczewski is an Associate Professor, a Caucasologist and a graduate of Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań. His research interests focus on the Caucasus region and its relations with Poland from political science and historical perspective. In the Institute of Political Studies, PAS, he heads the Richard Pipes Laboratory.

Piotr Madajczyk is a professor, historian and political scientist. His research interests include nationality problems in Poland, Polish-German relations in 20th century, social engineering and recent Polish history. He is also engaged in historical journalism and writes commentaries on the current developments in Germany and Austria. He heads the Department of German Studies in the Institute of Political Studies, PAS.

Wojciech Materski is a professor, historian and political scientist; a graduate from the Faculty of History at Warsaw University who specializes in the history of the Soviet Union and Polish-Soviet relations, history of Georgia and South Caucasus and history of international institutions of collective security.

Professor Grzegorz Motyka is a historian, political scientist and employee of the Institute of Political Studies of the Polish Academy of Sciences. His main research interests include the issues of Polish-Ukrainian relations after 1939 and anti-communist resistance in Central Europe after 1944. He wrote, among others: Od rzezi wołyńskiej do akcji Wisła [From the Volhynia Massacre to the ‘Vistula’ Action. The Polish-Ukrainian Conflict 1943–1947 (2011); Na Białych Polaków obława. Wojska NKWD w walce z polskim podziemiem 1944–1953 [A Manhunt for the White Poles. NKVD Troops Against the Polish Underground 1944–1953] (2014). Lives in Warsaw.

Andrzej Paczkowski is a professor, historian and graduate of Warsaw University. His research is focused on the history of Poland in 20th century. He is an author of many monographs, including The Spring Will Be Ours. Poland and the Poles from Occupation to Freedom (2003) and Revolution and Counterrevolution in Poland, 1980–1989 (2015) and a publisher of many collections of archive documents. In the period 1999–2016 he was a member of the Council of the Institute of National Remembrance.

Krzysztof Persak is a historian and a graduate of Warsaw University and Graduate School for Social Research at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, PAS. His research interests lie in the problems of the communist system, Holocaust and transitional justice. He is employed in the Institute of Political Studies, PAS as an Assistant Professor and in the POLIN Museum of the History of Polish Jews.

Tomasz Stryjek is a professor at the Institute of Political Studies, PAS, historian and political scientist researching into the politics of memory and cultures of former countries in Central and Eastern Europe. Recently he has published Współczesna Serbia i Chorwacja wobec własnej historii [Contemporary Serbia and Croatia Facing Their Own Past] (2020) and together with Grzegorz Motyka and Mariusz Zajączkowski Międzynarodowe aspekty akcji „Wisła” [International Aspects of the ‘Vistula’ Action] (2020). He heads the Department of Research on Eastern Europe’s History and Memory in the Institute of Political Studies, PAS.

Konrad Świder – Ph.D., Assistant Professor at the Institute of Political Studies of the Polish Academy of Sciences, historian and political scientist (sovietologist), researching ideological, political, social and economic changes in the post-Soviet area, especially in Russia, Ukraine and Belarus. He also studies Russian geopolitics, Russian imperialism, as well as the issues of modernization (ideological, political, social and economic) in the area of the former Russian Empire and the Soviet Union.